Text: ROMANS 8:14

The Lord's desire isn't just that we are active for Him, but that we are moving in the direction He has set for us. Through the help of the Holy Ghost, we are guided to walk in the will of the Lord for our lives, understanding that all the Lord has in store for us can only be accessed through the Spirit. So we must find grace not to grieve the Holy Spirit, but to walk in obedience and in the fear of the Lord.

Like we have been taught, and as Scripture witnesses, the Holy Spirit is not a silent partner in our lives. He speaks. He guides. He warns. He leads us both in natural matters and in spiritual ones. The reason many believers keep running in circles is simple: we pray, but we don't wait to hear. We serve, but we don't ask for direction. We decide, but we don't consult. But the Spirit of God desires to lead us in every detail: In our career, in our relationships, in our finances. Even in the little decisions of each day.

The Holy Spirit was given ultimately to guide us into all truth, and to bring us into the knowledge of the Father and the Son. The enemy's strategy is to make us too busy and too noisy to hear the Spirit. He fills our minds with anxiety, rush, and conflicting opinions until we can no longer discern the gentle prompting of the Spirit. But hear this: A life led by the Spirit will not miss God's will. A life led by the Spirit will discern what is right from what only seems right. A life led by the Spirit will always arrive at the place of blessing and purpose that God ordained.

There are blessings and prophecies that have gone ahead of us. The Lord intends that we come into all He has ordained. And it is through the help and guidance of the Spirit that we enter them. We are not meant to guess our way through life.
There is help available to know what to do, when to do it, and how to do it, per time.

Therefore, much more than we have done before, today let's be intentional about our intimacy with the Holy Spirit. Tune your spirit to His voice. Obey the little promptings. Do not harden your heart. Yield to Him. Grace and Peace be multiplied to us all in Jesus name.

Prayers:

Father, I yield my heart to You. Teach me to hear Your voice clearly. Lead me in the path of righteousness for Your name's sake. I refuse to run ahead of You or lag behind You. Lead me Lord, in Jesus name.

Confession:

I am a son of God. I am led by the Spirit of God. My ears are open to hear Him. My heart is open to obey Him. I will not miss God's direction for my life. The Spirit of God is leading me into His purpose for me.
